

'Aid Less Fortunate'

Philip A. Heller, head of the department's newly formed West African dog desk, said the Sam crisis was developing into "a most delicate affair."

"We don't want any dog to miss his Christmas party," Heller said. "There are more dog-lovers than there are foreign policy-lovers."

If you're listening way out there in darkest Africa, Sam, all the gang back at the Reservoir Road fire hydrant are asking for you. Come home boy.

the reporting vessels is stored in AMVER's electronic memory.

Thus, in a maritime emergency such as befell the Greek cruise ship Lakonia in the eastern Atlantic, AMVER can supply the names and locations of ships in the best position to answer an SOS.

Sunday night, AMVER typed on paper the names of five vessels within 100 miles of the Lakonia.

The system is in use only in the North Atlantic, but the coast guard hopes eventually to extend it to the Pacific.

...The Babe Lying in a Manger

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and lineage of David.

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which has come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

—From the gospel according to St. Luke.

The Spirit of the Gift

IT IS THE SPIRIT OF THE GIFT, more than its commercial value, that counts at Christmas.

Yet, this year, a Greater Victoria highly conscious of its own good fortune and well-being, has been more than ordinarily generous in its contributions to those who are less fortunate.

Through the Red Feather campaign of recent date it has raised more money than ever before to support two dozen agencies whose good works make life brighter for those in need of assistance—the old in straitened circumstances, the blind, the afflicted, the distressed family and the young people who are helped to grow straight by funds supplied in whole or in part by the United Appeal.

It is true the financial objective was not reached. But in falling short, the campaign yielded the largest number of dollars in the history of the United Appeal.

Nor were benefactions limited to our own people alone. Once more the citizens have responded magnificently to the Victoria Daily Times' collection for the Unitarian Service Committee "Korean Kidney Fund"—a campaign which can mean the difference between life and death for waifs in a distant land.

These were but two of several money-raising drives that have been accorded strong support in this community during the year now drawing to its close. A host of other charities and causes have been served by our people.

The sacrifice imposed by such giving has been negligible for most, onerous for a very few only. Yet the works that the gifts make possible are incalculable in terms of human values.

We could give more, but we have not turned a deaf ear to those who required help.

This can be a source of satisfaction to the individuals and the families of Victoria who tomorrow sit before tables laden with good things, who exchange gifts of high intrinsic value, and who know a little better the meaning of giving or unselfishness.

This community has shared some measure of its wealth. Because of that, the feast is more enjoyable, and honor has been done that underlying concept of good will toward men that was renewed by a birth in Bethlehem almost two thousand years ago.

Thanks, The Same To You

Now is the time of year when we Muster around the Christmas tree, Pour a full beaker to cheer our lives (Hiding the best stuff from our wives) And look at our friends with our inward eye, Waving to each a mental "Hi!" So let's invite them, row on row, And on each one a gift bestow.

Mayor Dick Wilson leads the van, The city's most progressive man. Centennial, Bastion, Pioneer— He's the "squares" shooter we've seen all year.

For him a loud peal on the bell, And solid support from us all as well.

To Jack Rutian and Howard McKay The very best for Christmas Day, Harry Hickman, Harry Dee, Frances Elford and Judge McPhoe, Archie McKinnon and Allan Leith Rate a red bow on their Christmas wreath.

Attilio Randy (there's a man!) Percy Scourah and George McCann, Courtney Haddock and Leonard Hobbs And a lengthy list of worthy Bobs: Wallace, Mayhew, Phipps and White, Siddall, Love and Dykes and Wright, They all deserve a Christmas box With Colin Graham and Alan Cox.

To Fred McGregor and Roderick Clark And that "Tang-y" twosome, Bessie and Jack, Malcolm Taylor (when he arrives) And Outburt Holmes (we hope he thrives),

Lily Wilson and Monte Drake The best that Santa's elves can make, And gladly we salute the works Of that splendid gentleman, George R. Peakes.

John di Castri and Robert Buller, Joe Clearihue and Otto Mueller, Harold Wilson, Victor Rogers, Bill Landymore and Nancy Hodges, Alan Macfarlane and Gordon Wright, Bessie Snider and Elmer Knight,

The Lawson namesakes, Dave and Don, And Water Commissioner Upward (Ron)—

A carol for all these we sing, Doug Abbott too, and Skipper King.

Or take Paul Bissley, Doc Carruthers, Hugh Stephen and Otto Mueller, Add Phil Taylor, Conway Parrott, Gordon Grant and Gordon Barrett, Maurice Humber, the erstwhile poet, And that true Victorian, Rebel Mowat, Shake them together, up and down,

With Dennis Young and Denis Brown, Sir in Tom Little and Big Bill Cox, Plus William West and Leslie Fox, Herb Morris, John Wallace, and after him, Nesbitt (Mike) and Nesbitt (Jim), Boll together and cool with care, And you'll have a punch beyond compare.

Ross Johnson rates an honored place, Mike Griffin, Dick Bower and Kenneth Sene,

Todd (that's Jack), and Bliss (that's Mary), Ed. Pearman and good Frank Fairley,

In this happy Christmas traffic snarl.

So we review them, row on row, But there's no more space for them all to go. The best we can do, ere the curtains fall,

Is: The Merriest Christmas to you all!

CHRISTMAS IN GERMANY

Christian and Pre-Christian Customs Mix

THERE is hardly any time of the year that casts such a magic spell on German life as Christmastide, with its heart-warming brightness.

At some places, the old custom of "searching for an inn" is observed, boys praying before the wax figurines of Joseph and Mary displayed in a small casket. The Virgin holds in her hands swaddling clothes which are replaced by a figure of the Newborn Babe on December 23.

Another custom reflecting the same kindly disposition consists in inviting the Holy Family to stay the night. A bed is prepared and the table is set for them on Christmas Eve. This is the Christianized version of the primitive custom of reconciling the spirits of the dead and the demons of winter by a generous gift of food.

It is quite obvious that Christian customs have not been able to supersede entirely those of pre-Christian days when people believed that in midwinter the world is under the sway of demons, and ghosts that have to be soothed by offerings or warded off by such shields as masks, lights and noise.

It is against this background that the masquerading processions of the Advent season must be seen, reaching their climax on the last three Thursdays before Christmas. In the so-called "Klopfel" nights mummings will go from house to house, knocking at doors, cracking whips, ringing cow-bells and using other means of making a fearful noise.

As the evil spirits are driven out scope is given for benign influences to exert themselves and whoever is instrumental in bringing this about is entitled to a reward.

Instead of the original motives which were based on magic beliefs there is today only the ingenious enjoyment of the noise and turmoil attending the processions and the exacting knock at the door has come to be interpreted, under the impact of the Christian faith, as a sign announcing the coming of Christ.

The intermingling of Christian and pagan customs also manifests itself in the St. Nicholas' Day processions. On these occasions, notably in the south of Germany, the Saint appears not merely as a gift-bringer but also as one making demands. This is particularly the case with St. Nicholas' companion who is known by different names (Knecht Rupprecht, Hans Muff, Butz, etc.). Again the Christian element prevails: While gently reprimanding the children that have behaved badly, St. Nicholas bestows his gifts equally on good and bad boys and girls.

Trusting in the Saint's kindness and generosity, children will place their shoes in a prominent position or hang up their stockings at the window-frame, so that he may know where to put his gifts when riding past on his white horse. In many places St. Nicholas and his swarthy companion make a personal appearance to examine the children and distribute their gifts.

Formerly St. Nicholas' Day used to be the principal day for distributing gifts to the little ones. In the course of time however, it came to be replaced by Christmas Day, first in the Protestant regions, and today Christmas, with all its splendor and brightness, is everywhere the outstanding event at the end of the year, governing the life of the community even many weeks before.

Streets are lined with fir trees and festooned with electric lights. Shop windows show an abundant display of Christmas gifts. Many towns hold their traditional Christmas fairs: Hamburg, Bremen, Munich and, above all, Nuremberg where against the magnificent background of Our Lady's Church and the Beautiful Fountain locally manufactured toys are a joy for the eye just as much as Nuremberg "Lebkuchen" are a relish for the tongue.

Christmas pastries go by different names in other places and regions: "Printen" (Aix-la-Chapelle), "Speculatius" (Rhine) and "Lebkuchen" (Bremen).

A well-known delicacy is Lubeck marzipan. So are specialties characteristic of Silesia, Pomerania, East and West Prussia (e.g. "Liegnitzer Bomben," "Thorn Kathrinchen") which, together with the people expelled from those regions, found a new home in west Germany. Very popular also are sweet Christmas cakes ("Strietzel," "Stollen") and various kinds of fruit cake.

Christmas cookies, pastries and cakes are frequently given the shape of animals: bear, buck, hare, cock and other birds, symbols of ancient sacrificial and fertility rites as are also bean, pea and lentil dishes (sprouting vegetables and fish dishes, especially carp (spawner). The Yuletide bear's head or, at least, roast pig are on the holiday menu.

The standard diet, however, for all ceremonial occasions between Martinmas and Christmas is the goose which, together with the carp, was especially favored by people in the eastern parts of Germany. All these pleasures of the table, rooted in ancient rites and, to some extent, favored by rigid rules of fasting during the period of Advent, are now an expression of the joyful mood associated with the holiday season that is climaxed by Christmas.

But it is not the feasting alone that creates the festive mood prevailing during those weeks. There is an atmosphere of secrecy and expectation permeating the home, which increases as on each Advent Sunday one more of the four candles are lighted which are fixed on the "Adventskranz" (an evergreen wreath), each additional light symbolizing the rising Sun of Christ.

Notably in the districts where Roman Catholicism prevails, the Christmas crib, or creche, is a popular feature. It is a Nativity scene placed in a suitable setting, and the custom dates back to medieval times. It was St. Francis who made the Christmas crib popular by his famous celebration at Greccio (1223), with a Bethlehem scene including a live ox and ass.

Christmas Landfall—Victoria, 1858

ARTHUR THOMAS BUSHBY was 23 when he embarked on the adventure which took him from his native London to arrive in Victoria on Christmas Day, 1858.

He sang a far better than passable tenor, played the violin and the piano, was affable and light-hearted, according to the word picture of him drawn by Dr. Dorothy Blakey Smith in the British Columbia Historical Quarterly, January-October, 1957-58. The journal entries, cheerfully free of punctuation and admirably abbreviated, lend authority to the picture.

Here was a young man schooled in the respectability of a successful family business in England, but no prig. He built his castles in the air and dreamed his own dreams of the pleasant life—wealth enough to support a comfortable home on the Thames riverside, stimulating friends who could join him for dinner and an evening of conversation and music. A likeable and likely youth, this, who came with the proper letters of introduction to Fort Victoria, then only in its 15th year of foundation.

By boat he crossed the Atlantic to Panama, by land he crossed Panama to the Pacific and by boat again to San Francisco, the mecca of the British gold-seekers.

It was very dirty weather off what is now the Washington coast on Wednesday and Thursday, December 22 and 23, 1858, as young Mr. Bushby neared the end of the last leg of his journey north by the mail steamer "Panama" from San Francisco. But the wind was favorable and those aboard expected to make Victoria by Christmas morning.

The voyage had been pleasant, the young man noted in his journal. "All the officers on board very agreeable the living good & Xmas Eve we had a regular musical bout finished by the Purser handing us round a bowl of whiskey or sherry."

On the preceding Tuesday night, "we had a fearful gale—and got close in shore thanks to a dark night we had to leave—to until daylight & on Saturday morning Xmas day we came in sight of old Vancouver Island & by 10 o'clock we steamed into Esquimalt Harbour."

"The island itself," wrote young Mr. Bushby, "from the sea view looks quite like the Scotch coast fir trees to the waters edge—Esquimalt Harbour is quite land locked. The Satellite & Plumper are at anchor & some merchantmen & lots of Indian canoes with the natives long haired flat faced paddling & fishing. We were landed at the rough wharf bag & baggage & went to the only grog shop & drank a Merry Xmas in a glass of good Scotch whiskey we knocked abt the harbor and wharf all day I shot a gull on my first trial & at last a little Str came round from Victoria & took us all on board we carrying our own trunks on our shoulders & away we steamed for Victoria getting there at dusk after a long & weary journey."

"On getting to the Hotel Xmas day," he continued, "we determined to have a good dinner—so some 12 of us set down to a 5/6 a head—12 bottles of ale what a treat & we enjoyed ourselves in the vengeance. After that we adjourned to a larger drinking saloon & regaled ourselves with hot whiskey punch & saw a number of fine specimens of miners—next mng Burnaby & I went to church a nice little place—I met Begbie coming out who did not recognize me at first on a/c of my dress & beard & moustache—he was glad to see me—he then introduced me to the clergyman & Mr. Pemberton & then Mr. Brew who made us acquainted with a Mr. Crease a barrister living next door—

"We are paying at the Hotel $1 per bed $1 dinner & $1/2 for breakfast"

"We hunted for lodgings & at last found one Burnaby & myself in 1 room for $3 per mo."

"On Monday Burnaby Bedford Elwyn & myself went into Creases where we met a man named Robertson—whiskey and cigars order of the day—

"Tuesday" went & presented my letters to the Gov; he read me very well & before I left invited me to dine that evng."

The governor was Governor Douglas, one of whose daughters became Mrs. Arthur Thomas Bushby, and the young tenor who appropriately admired the "rather decent bass" of Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie when he heard it in the church.

This was Victoria of 2,000 inhabitants, a town with a social structure too substantial to be upset by the influx of California miners on their way to the Fraser diggings—and a town where young Mr. Bushby settled down to become "an upright consistent fearless public officer in the services of the government"—a career started in the new settlement he reached at dusk on a Christmas Day.

... REPORTING

OTTAWA — There's an eerie feeling in this all but deserted Parliament Building today, after the hectic activity of bringing the life of the first session of the new Parliament to an expeditious end.

Once you pass the blue uniformed guards inside the main entrance under the Peace Tower—or the lone constable at the Senate door—your footsteps echo down marble lengths of dimly lighted corridor. At the stair wells safety lights guide your feet—weak, old-fashioned bulbs with glass points that haven't been touched since they were installed in 1923. Such bulbs are hard to come by nowadays. When they needed some for the restored Palace Grand Opera House in Dawson City, they had to get them from a specialty manufacturer in St. Louis.

MPs' offices are darkened and locked. Only the nameplates on the doors testify that these are the lairs of men and a few women who months on end sallied forth daily to do battle on the floor of the House in the interests of the public good—a resounding euphemism for votes. Now, as the eve of the Saviour's birthday draws nigh, these rooms wherein plots of politics are often hatched have been abandoned for hearth and home. Briefly now there is peace on the floor, and good will among Tories and Liberals, Socialists, Seceders and Creditists.

Any day last week there were about 1,200 people, not counting visitors, working in, for, or in conjunction with the Houses of Parliament. There were commoners, senators, officials, secretaries, stenographers, pages, official reporters, press reporters, librarians, cleaning and maintenance staff, restaurant staff, interpreters, translators, postal staff, barbers, even a nurse and a masseur.

Today, aside from the guards, an electrician or two on standby duty and one elevator in nine working, you'd be hard put to find anyone in the building except in the Press Gallery. There a few newsmen keep a sort of death watch—on the eve of the Birth—because news knows nothing of the appropriateness or otherwise of the time it chooses to break. But even there, where all lights blaze, only a few typewriters peck. News is not being expected or sought for; it is only being guarded against.

Not even in the summer recess does the pulse count of Parliament drop so low as during the Christmas season. It is not only that the prevailing spirit of peace and good will makes political conflict an unseemly activity, or that religious duties and family demands take precedence over normal activities. It is also that this is a time conducive to introspection, to quiet contemplation as well as personal enjoyment.

The strivings and bickerings of the political arena and the aspirations and compromises of pursuing a career in public life no longer seem so important. It is a time to think back, and to re-think where retrospect shows we have gone astray.

This is good for politicians, as it is good for all of us. We all seek the Way and the Light in our personal lives, whether we attach significance to them or not, and none should seek these more assiduously than those who sit in the parlaments of the world.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

The Magic Ribbon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. patent office issued a patent this week for a "self-correcting typewriter ribbon." It was described as the answer to a secretary's prayer.

A secretary I know put one on her typewriter and it worked fine. The ribbon hasn't made a mistake yet.

Now if only someone will invent a self-correcting secretary, the world will be a better place in which to dictate.

Actually, the "self-correcting" label is a bit of a misnomer. The ribbon was not designed to correct its own mistakes but to make it easier for a secretary to correct hers.

William Wolowitz, a local man who invented it, has high hopes that it will become a commercial success. He conceded, however, that it is not a "panacea."

In other words, the ribbon will not solve the problem of a secretary who can't spell "panacea." She will still need a dictionary. Or a smart office boy.

The fact that Wolowitz's invention is not the final answer to typing errors was demonstrated in a press release that I received from the Spellright Corp., which markets the ribbon.

Whoever typed the release goofed up the patent number. Made it 314447 instead of 3114447.

Had the secretary who typed the release caught the mistake at the time, she could have corrected it with the ribbon, which has an inked strip for typing and a chalked strip for erasing. The procedure is as follows:

Backspace to the first 4 and strike the key again with the ribbon in the chalk position. That would erase it. Then backspace again and hit the figure 1 with the ribbon in the ink position.

That done, the secretary would finish typing the release. Or perhaps take a coffee break.

Eventually, Wolowitz predicted, it will not be necessary to operate the ribbon shift lever to correct mistakes. He feels that typewriters of the future should have an "error key" that would change the ribbon position automatically.

He feels that way because he also has invented an error key.

At present, the erasure part of the ribbon is white. Therefore, it works on white paper. But Wolowitz said plans are afoot to produce it in pastel shades, which will make it possible to rectify colorful mistakes.

There is one problem, however, that has not been solved. The ribbon can only make erasures on one copy at a time.

That will prove to be a handicap for government secretaries, who make all of their mistakes in triplicate.

St. Joseph's Calls Tenders

Tenders for the $1-million second phase expansion of St. Joseph's Hospital have been called for Jan. 29.

The expansion involves a new laundry building, enlarged emergency admitting department, new foyer and waiting area, relocation of information office and non-emergency admitting centre, centralized food service, enlarged medical records office and a new electrical system.

The new laundry could cost more than $238,000, and tenders have also been called for laundry equipment.

MARKET SURVIVES

Europe Passes Margarine Test

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters)—Leaders of the European Common Market breathed easier today after agreeing on a joint farm and tariff policy and healing the worst split in the trade group's six-year history.

The agreement was reached Monday under a French threat that the existence of the six-nation market was at stake if an accord was not reached by Dec. 31.

Long drawn-out discussions ended with agreement on a package deal with included regulations for beef, rice and dairy products as well as a policy for the Kennedy Round of world tariff negotiations in the spring.

A rough draft of the package deal was drawn up by the market's commission in May. At that time Dec. 31 was set as the deadline for final agreement.

Cabinet ministers of the six Common Market nations—France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg—all were reported happy at the outcome.

Differences of opinion during negotiations put West Germany and France at odds—as well as Holland.

PRIORITY BATTLE

One of the key stumbling blocks to agreement was whether farm policy or tariff policy should be settled first.

France pressed for farm policy but West Germany held out for tariff agreement first on the grounds it would affect decisions on farm policy.

The last barrier was surmounted Monday when Holland accepted a tax on margarine—the country's economic life blood.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak came out of the ministerial conference and said: "It is an important success."

Heads Kennel Club

TORONTO (CP)—Victor W. Williams of Vancouver has been elected 1964-65 president of the Canadian Kennel Club. Vice-presidents are Jack C. Anderson, Calgary, and Tom Wells, North Surrey, B.C.

"It would have been unthinkable for European unity to fall on the problem of margarine."

Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns said the accord resulted in a "notable rapprochement within the Common Market and has respected the spirit of the Rome Treaty according to which the community should strengthen itself while remaining outward-looking."

The ministers now turn their attention to the Kennedy Round on tariff-cutting negotiations within the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

IMPORTANT TO U.S.

The Kennedy Round of talks will be held at Geneva, Switzerland, in the spring and will have important economic consequences for the United States.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Trip for Christmas Mail His Last

DUNCAN — William Bell, 81, of Cobble Hill Road, never returned home alive Monday from collecting Christmas mail from his letterbox in front of his house.

He was struck by a half-ton truck and died almost instantly. RCMP said the elderly man had just picked up his mail from the letterbox when the accident occurred.

The truck was driven by Gordon Dupont, 22, of Cobble Hill. The accident occurred at 3:30 in the afternoon.

An inquest will be held today at Hirst Funeral Chapel, Duncan.

DUNCAN — The North Cowichan municipal fire hall placed first in the commercial class of the Duncan and district home-lighting contest, the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Other winners of cups were: Decorated doorway: Mrs. A. K. Scott, Kinch Avenue, and Mrs. C. Campbell, Maple Bay Road, decorated window: Miss E. Pringle, Festubert Street, and Mrs. K. Faught, Grieve Road; flood-lit scene: Wilfred Brown, Bell McKinnon Road, and Mrs. Grandison, Prevost Road; open class: A. A. Gilroy, Lashman Road, and Mrs. Lundahl, Cairnsmore Street; unlimited lights: Mrs. P. Posti, Philip Street, and Joe Gergel, Sherman Road.

Judges were Cliff Pascoe, Bob Young and Neils Unicum.

NANAIMO — A young man who pleaded guilty in police court Monday to obstructing a police officer was given a suspended sentence and placed under a $250 bond.

Delynn Dayley, 18, also was fined $400 and prohibited from driving for a year for dangerous driving.

A police officer was injured when attempting to arrest Dayley, driver of a car which was stopped for speeding.

Constable Don Haggerty was attempting to remove the keys of the car when the driver suddenly sped away. He grabbed Dayley by the neck and was dragged about 30 feet before letting go.

Haggerty was thrown to the ground, injuring his arm and tearing his uniform.

NANAIMO — S. Sgt. Frank Slater of the RCMP said Monday money-cheque passers are operating in the Nanaimo area. In a warning to businessmen, he said:

Is Insulin A Drug Under Code?

NANAIMO — An appeal will be heard early next year to decide whether or not insulin is a drug within the meaning of the Criminal Code.

Defence lawyer Douglas Ruddle of Nanaimo said today he will appeal a verdict and sentence by Magistrate Lionel Bevoir-Potts last week against Richard E. Murphy of Victoria. Charged with impaired driving Nov. 11 after a collision, Murphy was abusive to police and taken in handcuffs to the station.

His defence contended he was not impaired by alcohol, but was suffering from insulin shock due to an overdose. Dr. J. B. Lynch of Nanaimo, contended the defendant was suffering from a blood sugar lack which produced a blackout.

DIABETIC 10 YEARS

The magistrate, in delivering his verdict, said he found no alcoholic impairment, but that Murphy was impaired by a drug.

Murphy has been a diabetic for the past 10 years. Mr. Ruddle contends that insulin is not a drug within the legal interpretation of the term and also that the defendant was suffering from a lack of a substance, not an additive.

The case will be heard in county court before Judge L. A. Hanna. The date will be set on call day in January.

Office Union Certified

PORT ALBERNI — The Office Employees International Union (OELC) has won representation of about 65 workers at the Alberni pulp and paper division, MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Company. It was the union's first certification in B.C.'s pulp and paper industry.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

There is a late plea to Santa Claus on behalf of some of the people who march through this space, two columns wide and heaven knows how deep, all year long.

They need things. Not web feet to match that stuff W. Mackie has been dispensing. Nor one of those cars that sails through or over water. Nor a fresh batch of crying towels for illi imagined or real. These are fine folks . . . pros from Azusa to Yosemite.

But everybody's battery runs down in time. Deep moral values pale in a materialistic world. A reaffirming of faith, hope, charity, understanding is needed so that what we are becomes more important than who we are or what we have.

Sport is a game, peopled by gentle souls and Machiavelian monsters. Help those, S. Claus, who need it most. And from your bottomless bag of booty, consider these kind hearts, etc. . . .

Ernesto Fedoruk: A curling rock that will find its way to the Brier . . . and an Irish skip to keep him on the ground.

Doug Peden: A set of golf clubs that don't spray, shank, hook, cough, belch or flub or permit anything higher than 76.

Their Wives: Tolerance for boy athletes who used to be. Ed Dorohoy: New legs, more goals. But nothing, thanks, for those wonderful warts on his windpipe.

Billy Foster: A car he can play with at Indianapolis—and a wide-angle lens to catch his smile when he wins the "500."

Mrs. B. Foster: A good set of nerves.

Robert "Gil Philard" Lowe: A Billy Foster to pull people into VITRA's weekly round-a-bout stakes at Western Zingway.

Duke Keats: Time . . . to reminisce, to spend with Doris.

Jack Morgan: People. Mostly hungry.

Dave Skrien: An offensive halfback with Willie Fleming's speed and dippy-doodle, Joe Kapp's supreme confidence, Jimmy Brown's straight-ahead power, Sam Huff's general irascibility and Vince Lombardi's cunning. Doesn't need to be gift-wrapped.

Frank Beebe: More falcons like "Dinty" to discourage seagulls from taking up light housekeeping at Canadian airports.

Ivan Temple: At least one crisis to deal with. Amateur hockey officials without crises are simply out of season.

Speed Kermode: Enough patience to fill a horse. But no more patient horses . . . just those with four legs (sound), unlimited horsepower, small appetites and kind dispositions.

Barbara Davies: A Mountain that is Green in name only . . . and an unlimited supply of band-aids for people who insist on using large trees for brakes.

Al Aylward: More appreciation of his personal sacrifices to help the handicapped regain their confidence and learn to swim in Naden pool . . . and more volunteers with steel nerves and fortitude to assist him . . .

Doug Fletcher: Hair tonic. Time to cultivate the resulting crop. And a constant supply of audiences to listen to his sports sagas.

Jack Heineky: Membership renewal in the Society of Distinct Liars Relating to Fishing Safaris. And a can of worms as a bonus for his excellent company.

George Crombie: An engraved button reading: "I promise never to tell tales about fish to people." Also a renewal in the Society of Dis . . . etc.

Stan Williams: Some of the stuff Doug Fletcher is getting to reduce the glare. But please, Mr. Claus, don't let Catharine oonk him with a rolling pin or let any other disaster occur until he gets one more chance to prove there are FISH with my name on them . . .

Herb Capozzi: A $3.25 chipmunk for his kids that doesn't cost $22.35.

Iver Hansen: The TRUTH about his bowling average. He'll give you lots of yak about his golf but how many strikes and how many blows equals what score???

Ian Stewart: A bachelor . . . what can you give the man who has everything?

Neil Sprinkling: Bigger headache pills or more people to watch Haida Chiefs play basketball.

Ken King: This could take quite a while . . . But start with Bob Cousy . . . Add Elgin Baylor . . . Mix in Norris Martin . . . And throw in Wilt Chamberlain . . . To heck with the fifth man.

Lou Agase: A medal for realizing that football is not the end of civilization . . . and a minor organization thoughtful enough to ask him to show them the way . . .

ME: A little thinking out here and there but nothing off the top, please. Among other things I cannot afford is a wig. But don't forget to wear yours when you come to our house. The leprechauns are waiting here . . . all nine of them. Be Good. Be Kind. Be Here.

And when you leave, wherever you go, for everyone you see, from us . . .

"Merry Christmas!"

Guyle Fielder Still Leads

Seattle's slick Guyle Fielder continues to set the scoring pace in the Western Hockey League.

Fielder added six points to his total during the past week to boost his total to 52 points, seven ahead of Vancouver's Phil Maloney and Lou Jankowski of Denver.

Fielder's 41 assists are high in that department and Jankowski leads in goals scored with 21.

Scoring leaders:

Fielder, Seattle . . . 52

Jankowski, Denver . . . 21

Maloney, Vancouver . . . 16

Stover, Denver . . . 15

Johnson, Los Angeles . . . 13

Powers, Seattle . . . 12

Carmichael, Los Angeles . . . 11

Jones, Portland . . . 10

Lahue, Los Angeles . . . 9

Merry Christmas to All

Waiting by tree with biggest Christmas cracker they could find, members of The Times Sports staff are getting ready to explode noisiest possible wish for a Merry Christmas to all athletes and sports fans. Doug Peden checks time and advises patience as Hal Malone (left) and Ernie Fedoruk (right) threaten to beat midnight deadline. It's our way of saying we hope you all get a big bang out of the holiday season.

Kings Surprise Czechs But Drop 5-4 Decision

EDMONTON (CP)—Czechoslovakia's national hockey team today boasts a record of three wins in five starts in a tour of Canada, thanks to a 5-4 win over Edmonton Oil Kings before 5,715 fans Monday night. Coach Jiri Anton of the Czech team said Oil Kings, who won Canada's junior championship last season, were surprisingly strong although less well balanced than the Canadian Olympic team with which the Czechs split two games.

Kings had a 2-2 tie after 40 minutes but in the third period the effects of playing their sixth game in eight days began to tell.

The Czech goals were divided among Frantisek Gregor, Frantisek Tikal, Stanislav Fryl, Jaroslav Valtr and Jan Klapek. Graham Longmuir, Bob Falkenberg, Dave Rochefort and Doug Fox got the Edmonton counters.

Coach Anton said the game was closer than expected but not as rough.

PLAYERS IMPRESS

Coach Anton, speaking through an interpreter, said the Edmonton team has not got three good lines as the Canadian Olympic team had but he was impressed by the play of centre Butch Paul and wingers Glen Sather and Gregg Pilling.

Coach Buster Brayshaw of Kings said he thought his club possibly outplayed the Czechs but "bad" goals beat the Edmonton team. The Czechs scored in the third period on two deflections and a sharp angle shot.

The game was played under international rules with Edmonton drawing seven of the 11 penalties. Kings appeared confused at first by the switch to international rules, which restrict body checking, and the Czechs led 1-0 at the end of the first period.

The Czechs are idle until Thursday night when they meet the senior Maroons in Winnipeg.

He indicated if general managers in favor of the proposal stuck by their current decisions, some concrete action might be taken.

LAWSON DIES

Football's Original 'Big Train'

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Smirle Lawson, former chief coroner of Ontario and member of the sports Hall of Fame, died in hospital here Sunday after a long illness. He was 74.

The original Big Train of Canadian football, Dr. Lawson's feats on the football field are still fondly recalled by many of the old-timers.

He played six years of senior football with University of Toronto Blues and Toronto Argonauts. He reached finals four times and was twice a member of the Grey Cup champions—the first time as a member of the 1909 Varsity team.

FIGHT RESULTS

PARIS—Souleymane Diallo, 154, Senegal, outpointed Don Palmer, 128, West Jordan, Utah, 10.

CZECH SCRIBE SAYS:

CANADIAN TEAM HAS A CHANCE

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Czechoslovakian sports journalist, travelling with the Czech national hockey team, predicts the Canadian Olympic team will be a strong contender in the international contest at Innsbruck, Austria.

Bedrich Zagar, sports editor for Pravda in Bratislava, said he expects big things from the Canadians "because all players are young and have a clever coach who teaches them much."

Olympics were defeated 3-1 Sunday by the Czechs.

"It is a well-prepared team, fast, and in excellent body condition," said Zagar. "But it plays like a team without experience."

"They make too many mistakes. They cannot make these mistakes and expect to win a gold medal."

Swimmers Start Holiday Program

Swimmers, as they have been doing on December 25 for more than four decades, will launch the city's Christmas sports program.

Golfers, curlers, rugby and hockey players will also get into the Yule sports swim, but they'll wait until Thursday before stepping on stage.

The splashes are due to hit the chilly waters of the Inner Harbor at 11 a.m. Wednesday in the 44th annual Christmas Day swim. They'll sprint 50 yards in a handicap race for the Capt. Harbord Trophy, being defended by Monty Holding against challenges from nine other entrants.

PRESIDENT'S CUP MATCH

Golfers start swing ing at 8:30 a.m. Thursday at Uplands in the annual Christmas Tree tournament. Curlers will be busy in holiday bonspiels at Victoria, Allan's and Esquimalt curling rinks.

Victoria's Crimson Tide tackles the President's XV in a rugby match for the President's Cup on the Macdonald Park pitch at 2:30 and two Victoria Hockey League games are carded Thursday night at Memorial Arena.

HOCKEY ACTION

Slated for backfield duty with the President's side are Al Foster, Jack Maxwell, Dave Chapman, Dave Edgson, John Hemmingsway, Dave Clark and Mike Bassett. Forwards selected are Ron Gower, Al Smith, Ian Ross, Pat Aldous, Maurice Preece, Don Eckhart, John Weman and Tim Holloway. Named as reserve is Les Underwood.

In the hockey doubleheader, it will be Dorman's Cavaliers attempting to start a climb out of the league cellar when they meet Arena Cougars at 8:15 and Safeway Canadians bidding to stretch their lead when they face second place Suburban Mercuries at 9:30.

BORK'S PASSING SET COLLEGE MARK

Als Sign Illinois Aces

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference announced Monday they have signed quarterback George Bork and end Hugh Rohrschneider from Northern Illinois.

Bork was playing much of the time against lowly rated opposition, but Alouette coach Jim Trimble said:

"I don't care if he was playing against a girl's school team. A player who completes as many passes as that deserves a full look. We plan to give him just that."

Trimble attended the Northern Illinois game Saturday and signed the pair then. Bork recently spent a week in Canada as the Alouettes' guest.

Scoring Awards Are Commonplace

He was rushed to hospital where an emergency brain operation was performed.

By the following spring he had won the National Hockey League scoring championship and within years some observers were saying that this native of Floral, Sask., was the greatest all-time player. Scoring awards and NHL trophies became commonplace with Howe.

At the finish of the 1962-63 season and after he had completed 17 years in the big time, he had won the league's scoring title for an unprecedented sixth time with 36 points on 38 goals and 48 assists. He won the Hart Trophy as the NHL's most valuable player, also for a record sixth time, and captured the right wing spot on the league's diocery during the summer and the Toronto runner didn't receive a vote.

The 35-year-old Detroit right-winger clinched it by receiving 55 first-place ballots against 33 by Jackson, chosen earlier as the outstanding player in the Canadian Football League and its top Canadian.

Howe started to build his credentials for greatness in the 1951-52 National Hockey League season, just months after his crackup in Detroit. Some doctors said at the time they doubted if he would survive—let alone skate or play hockey again.

He had missed a check on Ted Kennedy, captain of Toronto Maple Leafs, in the first game of the 1950 Stanley Cup semi-finals. He crashed into the boards, sprawling unconscious to the ice with a severe head injury and bashed face.

first all-star team for the eighth time in his career.

And he was just four goals short of the all-time NHL mark of 544 established by the retired Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens. It didn't take long to surpass this.

On Nov. 10 at the Detroit Olympia he scored goal No. 545, a milestone he had been aiming at for years.

Howe said he was "elated" at winning the CP poll. "It's a funny thing," he said. "When the hockey season is under way you don't think about awards. Then when the season is over you realize you had a good season by the awards that come your way. . . .

'MEANS A LOT'

"To me, it's the surprise awards like this poll that mean a lot. Everyone likes to get surprises. I notice this when I attend banquets where kids are being honored. Usually some surprise award is presented and you should see the look on the boy's face when he accepts it. "I feel the same way about this award. It's a tremendous thrill and I'm sure my wife and family will feel the same way. I will always treasure it."

All told, 21 athletes were nominated. Fourth place went to Bernie Faloney who quarterbacked Hamilton Tiger-Cats to a Grey Cup victory over British Columbia Lions. He received 72 points, five more than Bobby Hull, fifth-place finisher with 67 points.

Others who finished high included Don McPherson, 18-year-old figure skater from Stratford, Ont., who won Canada's only title at the world championships in Cortina, Italy, and then turned pro, and Willie Weiler, army physical training instructor at Camp Borden, Ont., winner of three gold medals in the gymnastic competition at the Pan American Games in Brazil.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP)—San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League informed the Southwest Challenge Bowl Monday that it could not have George Mira, the University of Miami, Fla., passing ace, for its Jan. 4 game.

It threw the Challenge Bowl people into an uproar with Bob Hamric, chairman of the selection committee, threatening suit. Mira was announced a week ago as quarterback for the Southwest All-Stars in the game matching a Southwestern team of college players against representatives from the rest of the U.S.

ticket sale because of Mira's anticipated presence.

But San Francisco, through general manager Lou Spadia, said it would not grant Mira, whose pro contract they hold, permission to play in the Challenge Bowl and that he would have to appear in the Senior Bowl Jan. 4 at Mobile, Ala.

Hamric said: "I believe we have the basis for a lawsuit and I don't know what the board of directors of the Challenge Bowl will do. I thought our deal with Mira was as firm as set as any I ever made in my life. I have a telegram in which he agrees to play in the Challenge Bowl. "We even went so far as to pay $1,000 to Mira, $400 above the amount being paid to allow him to bring his wife at our expense, and invited his pass-catching end, Nick Spinelli, whom we really didn't want."

No Anti-Trust Violation By PGA Rules U.S. Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association of America does not violate anti-trust laws, says a federal judge.

In the first anti-trust suit ever brought against the PGA, United States District Judge Lloyd H. Burke ruled Monday against golfer Herbert C. Deesen of Berkeley, Calif., who asked $210,000 in damages.

Judge Burke's green light for PGA tournament management policies put the controlling force of U.S. pro golf in the same category as major league baseball and the National Football League, other successful sports defenders against anti-trust action.

Painter Defends Tree Golf Title

Only one former winner of the men's title will be absent when the annual Colman Christmas Tree golf tournament is staged Thursday at Uplands Golf Club.

Heading the list is Vic Painter, who will be defending the crown he won last year. Also in the fold are Bill Wakeham, victor two years ago, three-time winner Dr. George Bigelow, Bill McColl and Claude Heggie.

Missing from the record entry of 119 men and 30 women are 1954 men's champion Frank Scroggs and Joan Lawson, winner of the women's crown last year.

In addition to attracting local golfers, the event has drawn entries from several out-of-town points, including Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary.

Competition will start at 8:30 a.m. and prizes are expected to be presented in the Uplands clubhouse about 4 p.m. There will be prizes for several handicapped divisions in addition to the over-all awards.

Here are the starting times:

Deesen, 40, claimed he was deprived of $70,000 in earnings because the PGA revoked his approved tournament player card in 1958.

The PGA said the card was revoked because Deesen's scores—usually in the high 70s—weren't good enough for the professional tour.

Deesen contended that the right of PGA members to play in tournaments without qualification constitutes obvious evidence of discrimination. Approved tournament players are not PGA members.

Judge Burke found, however, that no evidence of discrimination of any sort exists in either the PGA's membership requirements or its tournament rules for non-members.

He said the failure to limit entries of non-PGA members could end professional tournaments.

"Members of the PGA made tournament golf possible," said Judge Burke's decision, "and their unique position in relation to the game warrants consideration not given to non-members."

"If plaintiff wishes to avoid the effort for PGA membership he cannot complain as long as the alternative requirements are applied without discrimination."

Judge Burke said the evidence did not show that Deesen was a good enough golfer to be allowed in the tournaments or that he could have won money had he played.

"On the contrary," said the judge, "the record requires a finding that the plaintiff would have suffered substantial loss (due to travel costs) had he been allowed to use the game as a means of livelihood."

Deesen's lawyers said they will carry the case to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Dissatisfied Clerks Strike Santa Anita

ARCADIA Calif. (AP)—There was virtually no hope Monday night of averting a California strike that could delay the scheduled Thursday opening of the winter horse race meeting at Santa Anita.

The strike deadline was 12:01 a.m. PST today and no further negotiations were expected before then. Talks broke down Sunday.

WHL Loses Chief Ref

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ian "Scotty" Morrison is resigning as chief referee of the Western Hockey League because he has accepted a sales management position at Toronto. He leaves in mid-January.

Morrison, who said he might return to NHL officiating as a linesman if he could, started in the WHL in 1951, then returned after two seasons in the NHL, starting in 1954.

Boxing's Future Unsure After TV Coverage Ends

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing promoters who have staged fist fights with and without television have differing opinions about whether a total blackout of fights on television will help or hurt the hardy old sport.

Herman Taylor of Philadelphia, 76-year-old dean of American fight promoters, said: "Personally I can't complain about TV." But he added: "There is no question about TV doing boxing no good."

"We have to live with TV," said Chris Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla. "I think a lot of fans look for the Friday night fights on TV."

"Boxing will enjoy a new lease on life," said Archie Litan of Pittsburgh. "It may take longer and be more difficult to develop headline attractions. But the fans will return to the practice of paying to see a fight."

"I think one show a week on TV would help boxing," said Sam Silverman of Boston. "It has kept interest up in boxing and done a lot for it."

Actually the ancient sport hasn't been knocked off the air waves yet, but it's staggering.

SIX A WEEK

In the 1950s there were six network fight shows a week. The Friday night bouts from Madison Square Garden and other major arenas have been telecast since 1944—the longest continuous sponsored program on television.

It is the last regular fight program on television and it is tottering. The American Broadcasting Co. p. a. n. y. confirmed Monday that it plans to drop boxing from its network scheduling in 1964, possibly in April. A spokesman for Gillette

Safety Razor Company said: "This was the network's decision. We realize ABC's problem with declining ratings. Enough people just weren't watching the show and the network decided to drop it."

ABC and Gillette were reported seeking another sports program to replace the fight cards.

CONTINUE BOUTS

One report said the change may take place as early as April, although the ABC-Gillette contract with the Garden runs through September. Garden officials maintained they haven't received any official word about it.

Said Harry Markson, director of boxing at the Garden, said: "Even if these shows will be dropped from television, . . . that does not mean an end to Garden boxing. We ran boxing successfully before TV and will continue to do so."

All Eddie Fisher Wants Is Out

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An angry Eddie Fisher said Monday he does not want to spoil Elizabeth Taylor's "record of getting everything she wants."

"She deserves it all," said Miss Taylor's estranged husband.

band, "and she especially deserves Richard Burton."

"I want them to have all the happiness in the world—but I don't want to be part of that happiness. I've tried to handle this whole thing with a little bit of honor and dignity."

"It's a terrible situation and I don't want to be a part of it. All I want is out. I'm tired of being made the heavy in this thing. I'm fed up."

"I think maybe there is more tequila talking down there than anything else. My talking all comes from anger, not tequila."

Meanwhile, in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, Burton said he intends to marry Elizabeth by Jan. 20 at a civil ceremony "somewhere in Mexico."

A Jewish ceremony will follow when the couple have fulfilled the necessary religious requirements.

Miss Taylor adopted the Jewish faith when she married the late producer Mike Todd.

If there were any hitches the wedding may have to be held in Canada, Burton said.

"I have to be in Toronto on the 29th to begin rehearsals for Hamlet," he said.

The Jewish ceremony will not follow, the civil ceremony immediately, Burton said, because Jewish divorce requirements were "much stricter."

Miss Taylor wanted the Jewish ceremony, and this made no difference to him, he said.

"One religion is as good as another, I suppose."

Heifetz Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Violinist Jascha Heifetz was divorced Monday by his wife of 16 years. She testified he drove her from their Beverly Hills home and changed the locks to keep her out. Heifetz, 63, was ordered to continue payments of $1,200 a month alimony and $400 a month child support to Mrs. Frances Sears Heifetz, 53. The support payments are for their son, Jay, 15.

$25,000 TO STRATFORD

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal grant of $25,000 to the Stratford Shakespearean Festival Foundation of Canada was announced Monday by Prime Minister Pearson. The money will help the foundation take part in celebrations at Chichester, England, next year of the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare. Canada's Shakespearean festival company will perform three plays in the new Chichester theatre in April.

Pope Messenger of Peace Where Hatred Still Abides

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

A messenger of peace journeys next week to a land which knows little peace, a land which still may be a primary source of anxiety for a war-weary world.

Pope Paul VI makes his pilgrimage to the Holy Land—sacred to Christians, Moslems and Jews—at a time when religious leaders around the world are preoccupied with thoughts of reconciliation.

But among people in the Holy Land there is no such spirit. Tides of hate, the backwash of wars, jealousies and man's insanity toward man have swept the area since the Second World War.

The Pope is held in honor by both Jew and Moslem, on either side of the storied Jordan River. His pilgrimage is made against a background of a Vatican move to absolve Jews of sole blame for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

But many a Moslem Arab, harboring smoldering hatred for Israel, will be prey to suspicion that the Israelis may benefit politically from the Pope's visit.

TEMPORARY THAW

For a few days, the enmity will be cheered sufficiently to permit barriers at the borders to be lifted by both sides for the visit.

Nonetheless, the pilgrimage will venture into a sea of bitterness. Jordan, occupying part of what was Palestine 16 years ago, is home for resentful Arab enemies of world Zionism, the movement which brought Israel into being in May, 1948.

The Holy Land's modern sickness is, in part, an aftermath of two world wars. During the First World War, when the Germans' Turkish allies still ruled the Arab east, England turned to influential figures of world Jewry for help.

In return, Britain promised in the Balfour Declaration to help pave the way for realization of the dream of a Jewish national home. Britain said it should be established after the defeat of the Turks, without prejudice to existing non-Jewish communities.

UNLIKELY KINGDOM

After the Central Powers' defeat, Britain received the League of Nations mandate over Palestine. On the east side of the Jordan River, the British carved out an unlikely little desert kingdom and made the Emir Abdullah, a descendant of the prophet Mohammed, its king. It was called Trans-Jordan.

Jews began a slow process of immigration into Palestine between the wars. With the defeat of the Nazis and a wave of sympathy for Jewish suffering at Hitler's hands, Jewish immigration into Palestine rose sharply.

As the time for surrender of the mandate neared, underground Jewish organizations such as Hagannah, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang instituted a campaign of terror. Arabs left their villages by tens of thousands.

Tension was at white heat by November, 1947, when the United Nations voted a resolution, with strong U.S. backing, to partition Palestine. Two states, Arab and Jewish, were to be linked in economic union. The Jews would get 56 per cent of Palestine, the Arabs 44 per cent, less a Jerusalem area which was to be internationalized under UN administration.

ARABS HUMILIATED

The Arabs resisted partition, and when the mandate ran out in May, 1948, Arab armies entered Palestine. On May 15, the State of Israel was proclaimed with David Ben-Gurion as head of the provisional government. The war that followed humiliated the Arabs. The Israelis wound up by the time of the 1949 armistice with much more than they would have had by partition. Jerusalem became a divided city.

King Abdullah, whose Trans-Jordan Arab Legion, British-trained and officered, was the most effective Arab fighting force, moved his troops into that part of Palestine not effectively occupied by the Jews. This turned Trans-Jordan into the "Hashemite Kingdom of the Jordan." The result was more instability, because it meant able and educated Palestinians on the west side of the Jordan would be dominated by backward Bedouins on the east.

Abdullah was assassinated in 1951. In 1952 Abdullah's grandson, British-educated Hussein, at 17 mounted the uneasy throne. Hussein fell heir, too, to a refugee population growing at the rate of 25,000 a year. By current estimate there are 850,000 refugees in Jordan.

Embittered, the refugees became easy prey for nationalist followers of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser, who aimed to topple Hussein and called for his assassination as an "imperialist" tool.

Tension periodically has flared into situations critical for the whole sensitive, oil-rich Middle East. It became involved in the cold war with Soviet intrusion in the mid-1950s.

There was Suez in 1956 and the series of Arab explosions in 1958 which led to a landing of U.S. troops in Lebanon. In Iraq, revolutionists slaughtered young King Feisal, Hussein's cousin. For Hussein it was touch and go.

If the crises atmosphere has eased somewhat since 1959, this was not because of any less enmity of the Arabs for Israel or any lessening of Arab conflicts with Arabs. The Arabs still fight each other politically. Dreaming of unity, the Arabs seem united only in their hatred of Israel.

ONE PERSON who never complains about the price of Christmas trees is Mrs. J. B. Gagnier, 2616 Wark Street. This life-like metal evergreen was purchased by her mother in Regina in 1912 for $1.25—or a cost of a little more than two cents a year. Tree is fireproof and has metal fittings for candles on its wire limbs. Storage is no problem as the tree collapses like an umbrella into a space of five cubic feet.

SIX TOTS DIE IN FIRE, WERE LOCKED IN HOME

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Six children, who officials said were locked in their home while their parents were working, died in a blaze that engulfed their home Monday. Firemen said rags stuck near a water heater in a closet apparently ignited and started the blaze.

Lagoons, Canals Lace Fair Site

MONTREAL (CP)—The master plan for the 1967 world's fair at Montreal emphasizes water—lakes, lagoons and canals within islands surrounded by the St. Lawrence River and connected to Montreal by bridges.

The Canadian World Exhibition Corporation unveiled the plan Monday and emphasized it must still receive approval by the federal and Quebec governments. The plan is to serve only as a basis for future designs.

Answers were given at a press conference to questions raised about the city of Montreal's ability to deliver the fair site to the corporation by June 30, 1964, as required by the International Bureau of Exhibitions.

FILL SCARCE

The city has admitted difficulty in obtaining fill from the bottom of the St. Lawrence River for what originally was to be a 310-acre island joined to the shore opposite Montreal and providing parking space. This has been modified to

SETS SCHEDULE

He gave a schedule for fair site development and construction which would allow the city to continue filling in the area for more than a year past the deadline.

"The site will be completed, in my opinion, not on June 30," he said. "However, the city has assured me that those sections we require will be ready in time for our construction program."

The schedule, he said, calls for installation of underground services and foundations for the principal roads over a year period starting in the summer of 1964.

'HARD TO BELIEVE'

Greetings Flood 'Forgotten Man'

By RICHARD HONECK
As Told to Harold V. Streeter

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—This is hard to believe.

Just a few weeks ago, I didn't think I had a friend outside, not to mention a relative, as I sliced bread in the bakery at Menard state penitentiary, Chester, Ill.

Now just look around this trailer. Cards and letters from everywhere. More than 3,000 already. Some from 11 foreign countries. I'm still getting 15 or more every day.

(Honeck flew to San Francisco and freedom by jet plane last Friday. He went to prison four years before the Wright brothers made the first flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C.)

How do I feel about what my niece has done for me? Here's a letter which says it better than I can. It's from the Daughters of Mary and Joseph, a Roman Catholic order in San Francisco, and was sent to Clara. See the way it ends, like this:

"You are privileged indeed to understand and practise the words of St. John. 'Little children, love one another.' To love is to purposefully live."

FREEDOM BIGGEST GIFT IN 64 YEARS

Richard Honeck's Christmas present, has to be the best anyone is getting this Christmas. It's his freedom.

In 1899, at the age of 20, he went to prison in Illinois for murder. At 84, after 64 years in prison, he was paroled six days before Christmas to a California slice he had never met until recently. Mrs. Clara Orth read an Associated Press story on "The Forgotten Prisoner," she realized he was the uncle she had been told about in childhood. She had believed him dead. She opened her heart and trailer home to him.

Victoria Ruled, McKinley President

All this I didn't know back when I got a life sentence. I had to teach it to myself in prison. (When Honeck entered Joliet, Ill., penitentiary, Victoria sat on the British throne; Winston Churchill was a young correspondent of the Boer War; and William McKinley was president of the United States. He was in prison under 12 presidents.)

In 1897, I had taken a train to California—it was a long ride, 5½ days or more—and got a job as railroad telegrapher at Anaheim. I worked myself up to assistant station agent in a year. Then one day a tall young man walked in, said, "Get out or I'll throw you out." And my job ended there. Why I don't know. Then it happened. (That's all Honeck will ever say about the murder of a former school teacher, a young man named Walter Koeller, with whom he had quarrelled.) I was in complete disgrace. I saw no way out. My young life and future were gone. I was in a very unhappy frame of mind until around 1912. For the next five years I had to become combative with my own self. I made a mental re-examination . . . of my immature thoughts . . . my unkind thoughts . . . even my division of thoughts. I had to rearrange my whole mind. And quick.

'Just Thought Things Out for Myself'

(In the process, prison officials moved him, about 1915, to Chester State Hospital—the year the first transcontinental telephone call was made from New York to San Francisco.)

I wrestled with myself in my mind as I sat in my cell or as I worked. I began slicing bread when I was at the Chester hospital.

I kept up with the world's progress in a way. I read a few newspapers. And when radio came (the first scheduled broadcasting was in 1919) I listened some. But mostly I just thought things out for myself.

You know, I don't think there is enough interest on the outside in prisoners and mentally disturbed persons. Who do you see persons are treated so they can return to the outside? My mail? I didn't get any. Yes, I had five brothers and four sisters but I didn't know where some of them were. Besides, I was afraid they wouldn't want to hear from me in prison.

(His niece, Clara Orth, said she was told in young girlhood about "some uncle in prison" by her father who had married one of Honeck's sisters. But later when she went to live for a while with Honeck's father and one of his sisters, never a word was spoken about Richard Honeck in her six years there at Hermann, O.)

Prison taught me many disciplines—such as how to eat as my body needs. People overeat. I'm going to keep in touch with Warden Ross-Randolph at Menard. He's one of the finest men I ever knew. (Honeck was transferred to Menard after 16 years at Chester State Hospital.) And I'm going to write Earl Jake Sharp. The prisoners called him Uncle Jake. He has done a fine job with the men in what is often a thankless job. He befriended me when I had only a few friends and I'll never forget him.

Victoria-Born Mrs. E. Newbury Dead at 94

Mrs. Emma Newbury, a native Victorian and a member of one of the city's pioneer families, died Monday at 94.

Mrs. Newbury was active in Red Cross work during the First World War and was a member of the Native Daughters of B.C. She married John C. Newbury, one of the first teachers at Victoria's first school.

She is survived by a son, Cowper, of Vancouver, and a daughter, Mrs. Olive Adamson, of Fort Angeles. Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Friday from Sands Memorial Chapel.

Penny Turns to Verse On Night to Remember

By PENNY SAVER

The stockings are stuffed, the presents are wrapped—My arches have fallen, my self control snapped. My hair still needs curling, my dress needs a press. But our house is in order—at least, more or less.

The sound of carols being sung by a choir Mingles with bells from the nearest church spire; And out of the black of this glorious night A single star, glows 'specially bright.

We mortals remember the age old story—Of a day more significant, a night of glory. When a baby was born on Bethlehem plain. A king forever, o'er all us to reign.

And, on this day as our hearts fill with joy, We must not forget that wee baby boy Who gave us the gifts of life and love And now watches over us from up above.

So, join in the fun, the giving, the sharing But never forget, and never stop caring About the message He sends to all men, "Peace on earth, good will to men."

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The Magic Charm Of Christmas Eve

Here is that happy night again! I have written so many columns for Christmas Eve that I probably repeat myself, but so does Christmas Eve and that wonderful feeling!

To me, this is a magic time. It has everything; anticipation, suspense, family, colored lights, bright packages, music and the aroma of cedar or pine. It is fraught with nostalgia because of a lifetime habit and rich memories of other Christmas Eves.

More than all, it seems to be the epitome of a mellow feeling toward mankind by mankind. There is a feeling of goodwill everywhere, of peace on earth. Even the hurrying crowds are activated by this uplifting emotion. Old grudges are forgotten for the moment anyway, and everybody likes everybody else.

Whenever I write about the thrill of this evening I feel guilty because I cannot help being conscious of the fact that many folks may find this a trying time because of the loss of a loved one or financial difficulty. But, don't lose the spirit of Christmas Eve, no matter what has happened to you.

Don't miss this evening because of a lack of money. Most people spend more money at this time than they can afford. If you have none or practically none to spend, give someone a big red shiny apple with holly at the top and an accompanying note. Give someone a special hug and kiss. Send a note describing what you would like to give if you could afford to do so. Make a visit to someone you love, a telephone call. Light a candle and put it in your window.

DEAR ABBY...

She'll Regret It Later!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My best friend and I work together. There was a good-looking policeman who used to talk to us on our break, and my girl friend fell in love with him. He is married and has several children. He and his family are moving out of the city, and now my girl friend is planning to quit her job and try to find one where he is going. She says she realizes that he is not free to marry her, but she can't live without being near him. I am trying to talk her out of it but am not having much luck. I hate to see her hurt. If I send you her address, will you write to her and tell her she is heading for trouble? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If she won't listen to you, she won't listen to me. Some people have to learn the hard way. And the tragedy of this kind of learning is that so many innocent people must pay the tuition.

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who had a 14-year-old daughter. (His wife died two years before.) We've been married a year and this girl addresses me as "my STEPmother," with the most emphatic and insulting accent on the "step" that you could ever imagine. When she speaks of me to others, she refers to me as "my father's wife." Please tell me how I am supposed to feel. I have bent over backwards trying to be a good mother.

DEAR HURT: Small wonder you are "hurt." The girl's hostilities are running out of her mouth. She probably would resent any woman who married her father, so don't take it personally. Continue to be the best mother possible, and ask your husband's advice on this thorny problem.

DEAR ABBY: I am sitting home again tonight while my husband is at his garage, five miles away, overhauling his hot rod. He works every night until two and three in the morning. He won't let me go to the garage with him because he says "The boys" come over and he doesn't want me there. I work downtown six days a week. Most of the time he does not come home for dinner and I never get to see him. We get along fine when we're together and we love each other very much. He would just rather work on his hot rod than be with me. He's not a teen-ager. He is 26 and I am 23. What should I do?

LONESOME
DEAR LONESOME: You had better start overhauling your marriage before it conks out. Tell "Hot Rod 26" that unless he budgets his attention better between you and his other love, it's the checkered flag for your marriage-go-round.

"A Very Merry Christmas To All"

ELIZABETH FORBES,
PAT DUFOUR,
MARLENE GLASSFORD,
Women's Department.

Canon Robert Willis holds three-month-old Marie Ann Farmer, following recent ceremony in which she was named. Her sister, Teresa Elizabeth, and small brother, Ronald David, at right, and her young uncle, Kenneth Everet Hayden, centre, were named in the same ceremony.

In St. Mark's Church

At a recent ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church, the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Clive D. Farmer, 4231 Springridge Crescent, received their names.

They are three-month-old Marie Anne, her sister Teresa Elizabeth, five years, and a brother, three-year-old Ronald David.

At the same time, the children's young uncle, eight-year-old Kenneth Everet Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evert Hayden, 3698 Shelbourne Street, was named.

Canon Robert Willis officiated. Little Marie Anne wore an heirloom gown, originally made for her great-grandmother, Mrs. A. Blythe who, with another great-grandmother, Mrs. M. Brown, was present at the ceremony.

Godparents for the three Farmer children are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lashuk of Winnipeg. Their grandparents are

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Farmer and Mr. and Mrs. Evert Hayden, all of Victoria.

Young Kenneth Hayden's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Stubbs of Victoria.

A christening supper followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evert Hayden.

In City

Among many out-of-town guests in the city Saturday for the wedding of Miss Jillian Rhana Arlett and Mr. Edward Lloyd Pulford was the bride's godmother, Miss Gwen Bowden, Seattle. Others included Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bain, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barrett, Miss Jackie Burnett and Miss Lynne Wanabaker, all of Vancouver; Mr. John Elder, Toronto; Group Capt. and Mrs. J. Fall and Mrs. A. Bartlett of Cobble Hill; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Campbell of Ardmore and Miss Susanna Garner, Port Alberni.

'THE DAY I REMEMBER

Lieutenant-Governor's Wife Remembers Her Favorite Christmases

By PAT DUFOUR

To most of us, almost every Christmas has at least one blessed moment that will stay with us for all time. Such is the case with Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

"And, of these, the earliest memory is of Christmas, 1925, when Mrs. Pearkes was a young bride.

"We were in Winnipeg with the regiment (Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry). I had been married just a few months.

"I'll never forget shopping with Mrs. Dick Willets, wife of the commanding officer. Ours was no ordinary expedition. We bought toys for every child of the regiment in preparation for the annual Christmas party. It was a wonderful experience!"

Reminiscing on the days when she "joined the regiment", Mrs. Pearkes recalls a Sergeant-Major Turnbull who "was the most impressive person I've ever seen. He had a huge moustache and I don't believe that anyone ever saw him out of uniform.

"The regiment had a bulldog as a mascot and he and the sergeant-major made quite a twosome. We always used to say we could tell the difference—the mascot didn't have a moustache!"

Two other Christmases come to mind. Both were spent aboard ship. The first was the Christmas Day in 1936 when Mrs. Pearkes and her small son, John, sailed for England from Saint John, N.B.

The next year, it was again Christmas Day that saw them setting sail once more, this time bound for home in "one of the Duchess boats".

Mrs. Pearkes' eyes light up as she re-lives that Christmas Day at sea.

"Children always have a marvellous time aboard ship at Christmas. The ships' officers spare no effort to make the holiday a happy one.

"That year, the ship's captain gave young John the "key to the room where Santa kept his reindeer". Our son spent most of that seven-day trip searching!"

As the wife of an army officer, Mrs. Pearkes soon became used to travelling and two of her wartime Christmases were spent in England.

"We had a charming little cottage at Pershaw, in Worcestershire. Both in 1940 and 1941, my husband was able to join John and me for Christmas. At that time, His Honor was in command of the First Division and stationed in the south of England. His aide-de-camp was Brig. E. D. Danby, who is now British Columbia area commander."

Like most people, His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes made every effort to return home at Christmas. So, during the time that His Honor was minister of national defence, they made the cross-country trek from Ottawa to Victoria for the all-important holiday of the year.

Another Christmas highlight came when the Pearkes spent their first Christmas at Government House in 1960.

"My son and his wife were there with their elder son, Anthony George. Rounding out the four-generation gathering was my husband's mother, Mrs. Louise Pearkes.

"On Christmas Day, young Anthony walked for the first time. I imagine it was because of the distances he had to cover that he decided to take his first steps!"

This year, it will again be a four-generation party at Government House, but now there will be a younger brother, Timothy, to keep Anthony company.

His Honor's mother is now nearing the 100 mark and will add her own contribution to the warmth of family life at Government House.

For, just as in homes all over the province, Christmas Day at Government House will be very much "en famille".

Off to the South Seas

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Pendray plan a two-month trip to the South Seas in early January. They will be accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Hine on the first leg of the trip, motoring to San Francisco. After a two-week holiday in the Californian city, Mr. and Mrs. Pendray will embark in the Matson Line's Ss Mariposa. While away, they will visit Tahiti, the South Seas, Australia, New Zealand and Honolulu.

Here For Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Wardroper with their children, Lawrence and Andrew, have returned to Canada from Helsinki and are guests of Mrs. Wardroper's mother, Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson for the holiday season. Mr. Wardroper has just completed a tour of duty as counsellor with the Canadian Embassy at Helsinki. After the holidays they will go to Ottawa to live. Mrs. Wilson, also has another daughter, Mrs. L. W. (Marnie) Coburn of North Vancouver with her, at her Howe Street home for the holiday season.

Mr. Joe Maloney, who is attending University of Hawaii at Honolulu, has returned to Victoria to spend the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Maloney at their Prior Street home.

Miss Marilyn Smith flew from San Francisco on the weekend to spend the Christmas season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stuart Smith at their home on Vancouver Street.

Honored

A decorated laundry basket held gifts for Miss Linda Marston recently when she was honored at a shower in the Richardson Street home of Mrs. W. Yeamans. Co-hostess with Mrs. Yeamans was Mrs. J. Metcalfe.

The table was decorated with a bride doll. The bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. H. Marston and her grandmother, Mrs. G. Marston were presented with Christmas corsages. Twenty guests attended the shower.

Care for Your Christmas Plants!

Play it cool with Christmas plants and they'll bloom long past the season.

Nearly all Christmas plants require a cool, moist atmosphere for maximum bloom, although the opposite usually prevails in modern homes and apartments. But some expert tricks of the trade can help.

persuade plants to last longer and sometimes to bloom again next year.

One of the touchiest of winter plants is the colorful poinsettia, says a Canadian plant authority. This native flower of Mexico must be moist at all times but never have wet feet, according to this grower of cut flowers and plants. Keep the plant in bright light, away from drafts, and pour off excess moisture after watering. He advises.

As poinsettia leaves turn yellow, remove them. After the bloom has dropped, the plant and the fern used as fill will make an attractive green houseplant for several more weeks. And if you're brave enough to try for another round of blooms, dry out the poinsettia in the basement for a few months after blooming, repot it in medium rich soil in spring, keep it moist and in bright light, and watch for blooms.

Another Christmas favorite, the cyclamen, requires much the same care. It should be always moist, without wet feet and if possible, it should be removed to a cool place at night. For a second round of blooms, follow the rules for poinsettias, this expert advises, but don't be disappointed if you're unsuccessful.

This year's azaleas are a different variety, still in vivid pinks and reds, but single blooms on shorter stems and smaller daintier plants.

Azaleas need to be not only moist but soaked. "It's the only plant that's safe with wet feet," said this plant authority. "Water it twice a day and if by chance it dries out, steep it overnight in the bathtub with water right over the pot. It's a very thirsty plant."

After blooms have dropped, keep the plant moist and in spring, plant it under a shade tree in the garden for more glorious blooms.

Begonias require the coolest spot in the house, medium moisture and no drafts — otherwise they'll systematically drop every blossom. After blooming, pinch back the remaining points and the plant will burst into flower again. After the second round, repot the begonia, keep it moist and be ready for blooms again next fall.

The vivid kalanchoe is the Christmas plant best suited to the dry, warm atmosphere of modern homes. It should never be allowed to dry out, however. If the plant is pinched back and repotted after blooming, it will bloom again. During their first season, flowering Christmas plants will not require fertilizer, since they are fully grown in the greenhouse.

What they do need is humidity in any form. A humidifier in the house solves that problem but failing that, lukewarm water sprayed from a perfume atomizer directly on the leaves and blooms daily will help. Another trick is to place the flower pots in a tray of sand and gravel which is kept moist.

Pilot Program

EDMONTON (CP)—With a professional staff of only three, the Edmonton Art Gallery is piloting an art program for 1,200 children. More than 1,000 applicants had to be turned down. The gallery has 20 part-time teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Linford, 3317 Shelbourne Street, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Verna Marie, to Mr. Terry Alexander Neuenfeldt, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Neuenfeldt, 3355 Shelbourne Street. The wedding will take place on Saturday, February 15, at 8 p.m., in St. Aidan's United Church with Rev. A. G. McLeod officiating. (Ryan Bros. Photo.)

Future Queen of Danes Sees Hope In World

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Princess Margrethe of Denmark has returned home from a 72-day trip abroad with an optimistic view of the condition of the world.

"It would be too bad if one was disillusioned and negative," the 24-year-old blonde princess said in an interview Saturday.

"I have seen so many encouraging signs that the world of today offers possibilities for mutual understanding and respect provided you show friendliness and come with an open mind."

The woman who will someday be Denmark's queen visited Mediterranean areas, Aden, Iran, Pakistan, India, Thailand, Malaysia, Hong Kong and Japan.

WESTERN RED CEDAR
1½"x10" Sawn-textured
FOREST SIDING

How does "FOREST" compare with other sidings?

Its greater thickness adds structural strength to the building. Its snug "back to the wall" fitting makes for warmth and fast application
... because it goes on like shiplap. The greater volume of "FOREST" siding gives a high insulation value.

When stain is applied to sawn-textured, (sometimes known as rough faced)
"FOREST" siding the distinctive character of the knots, burl and grain is emphasized. Stains come in a variety of colors such as Maplewood, Mahogany,
Redwood Cedar, Wheat
Tone and Flamingo. Maintenance costs are extremely low.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

This time of year always produces some wonderful viewing in the many programs devoted solely to the theme of Christmas.

Sunday was a good day with something for every taste.

The day started early with familiar carols sung by Metropolitan Opera stars Roberta Peters and Charles Anthony through a delightful kiddle's special from Walt Disney to Tennessee Ernie Ford and "The Story of Christmas" in the late evening hours.

Ford was the host of a one-hour special about Christmas that featured a good deal of singing and an animated version of the story of the Nativity.

A bit earlier in the evening a Project 20 classic was seen. It was "The Coming of Christmas" which was first shown three years ago.

Alexander Scourby read from the Old and New Testaments as cameras scanned the paintings of Rubens, Van Eyck, Raphael, Veronese, Velasquez, Durer and Rembrandt. The half-hour was all too short as the meaning of the season made itself known again through the excellent narration and camera-work.

As I followed the various shows it became increasingly evident how much the season means. But, there is a different meaning for different people. My thoughts centered on a Christmas card sent me yesterday by a 13-year-old girl in Pitt Meadows, B.C. who brought forth her feelings in a self-created poem. Anne Rale titled it "The Miracle of Snow" and I take this liberty to pass it on to you.

"As the heavens release,
Their miracle of snow
This, resemblance of fleece,
Covers the earth with a soft glow."
"Downwards they fall,
These soft, downy flakes
To Mother Nature's call
Covering the land and lakes."
"As they cover the earth,
Their blanket spread wide,
Children shout their mirth
And down-hill glide."
"Out of the sky, onto the land
Those snowflakes slowly drift,
Spreading their quietness
Oh, so grand!"
"As the snowflakes fell,
I watched with awe
And saw,
Their miraculous gift of PEACE!"

It's a child's thoughts to which I will add A Very Merry Christmas.

THE RAFFLE WAS 'FIXED' TO HELP A LITTLE BOY

VANCOUVER (CP)—A five-year-old boy won a huge mechanical Santa Claus in a raffle during the weekend.

Not a very outstanding event until it is considered the boy is dying of leukemia and 175 of the 500 tickets purchased were made out in his name.

The raffle was conducted by a suburban Richmond drug store to raise money for the Salvation Army.

Many purchasers of tickets put down the name of Bradley McDonald whose step-father, Gordon was recently released from prison after an appeal court reduced his sentence for theft to one month from six.

The step-father had said he stole to buy things for the boy who is not expected to live until next Christmas.

One person purchased 80 raffle tickets for $20 and put the boy's name on all of them.

Cold War End Nears Douglas-Home Thinks

NEW YORK (AP)—British Prime Minister Douglas-Home expressed belief Sunday that the West may see "in the coming year or so that we're really at the end of the cold war."

The next step, he said, "would be to try and work out a really genuine coexistence with the Soviet Union."

In an interview filmed at the prime minister's London residence, 10 Downing Street and shown on the NBC-TV program, Sunday, he said:

LEAVING his post as Saanich municipal planner is Antony Parr, whose resignation is effective February 28. He is to be the new director of planning for Burnaby. Saanich council accepted his resignation Monday evening "with regret." He has been there since 1958.

Over 1,000 Witnesses At Assembly

A peak attendance of 1,050 was recorded at the semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held in the Sanson Hall, Sidney, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Delegates of all ages from 16 Vancouver Island congregations attended, and the program included an ordination service at which 14 new ministers were ordained.

Highlight of the assembly was an address Sunday afternoon by Donald Mills, district supervisor for southern Vancouver Island.

NO CONFLICT

"The Bible does not conflict with scientific fact, only with some of the unproved theories of science," Mr. Mills said.

"Science changes rapidly and what is scientific today may be very unscientific tomorrow."

When put to the test on four basic counts, he said, the Bible triumphs as the most reliable authority in the world when it comes to (1) the origin of life (2) the origin of man (3) the solution of life's problems and (4) what the future holds.

"It's value is seen in the way it informs us of God's future purposes. Theories contrary to this exist, but they are often the result of pride, egotism or the desire to be independent of God."

Brandy-Swiggling Parrot Waits for Christmas Bonus

By MARGE GILROY

A brandy-swiggling parrot and a carrot-chewing horse are waiting for their Christmas dividends.

Louis the parrot has already lived a long life on hard boiled eggs and brandy. On Christmas he gets walnuts, almonds, apples and bananas.

Queenie the horse has lived 14 years on love and oats. And one of her best loves is a friend in Oregon who sends her two dollars every Christmas for a ration of carrots.

Sandy Hayton, caretaker at Beacon Hill Park said, "Queenie doesn't really like too many parties, she is getting too old."

Last year Sandy gave her a corsage. "She didn't like it. This year Queenie settled for a pedicure."

Queenie has always had a lot of friends to bring her chocolate biscuits, carrots and a lump of sugar.

Not so Louis—he is a recluse.

Louis belonged to Miss Victoria Wilson, a wealthy spinster who died in 1949. She left behind five choice city lots, a three-story white house, an electric car, more than 100 pairs of gloves, over a quarter of a million dollars and Louis.

The five city lots are now owned by George J. Shaffer but Louis reserves the right of occupancy for an undetermined length of time.

The white house, converted into six suites, still occupies the pinnacle between Broughton and Burdett.

The electric car was sold to a man on the prairies a few years ago.

All that remains is Louis and a few feathered friends, enough money to pay the taxes, wages for Wah Wong and cash for booze.

Remainder of the estate and the 100 pairs of gloves were distributed among various charities.

How old is Louis?

Well a Mrs. Elaine Cowie, a pet shop manager, who knew Miss Wilson well said she imported the bird for her about 30 years ago, and at that time the bird was only five or 10 years old. So,

Two Killed At Party, Man Held

SEATTLE (AP)—A young used car salesman who a neighbor said "did not have anything against anyone in particular" was held without charge Monday in the fatal shooting of two persons and the wounding of two others.

The gunplay occurred at a neighborhood Christmas party in suburban Bothell early Sunday.

Robert Cornell, 40, a father of five children, and Mrs. Carlene Richardson, 31, a mother of three, were killed.

James Mol, 25, was arrested by officers who found him hiding in a nearby grocery store a short time after the shooting.

Police said others among the 30 guests told officers Mol had been ejected by several of the men after scuffling with a guest. He got a rifle and a pistol from his home across the street and returned.

Louis lives in the centre of town but he rarely sees anybody but Wah.

Executor of the estate tried to give Louis a home in Stanley Park but officials refused to have him because he was too advanced in age.

The same answer came from Beacon Hill Park.

It looks like Louis will be in his old abode—a garage at the rear of the white house for many Christmases to come.

FAMILIES ARE A STRONG POINT with Mrs. Alice Kimoff, 4444 Wilkison Road. She won first prize in a national family album photo contest sponsored by Puritan Canned Meats, but had to postpone acceptance while she had her third daughter. D. How-

RCAF Wing at Heart Of Nuclear Hassle

Alex Young, Times Ottawa correspondent, was with the press corps at last week's Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This is the last in a series of four articles on the part Canada plays in NATO and some of the changes in its status.

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

PARIS—Prime Minister L. B. Pearson may make a side-trip to Royal Canadian Air Force bases in France when he comes to Paris next month for talks with President Charles de Gaulle.

Men of the RCAF in France currently are at the centre of a controversy involving French refusal to permit storage of nuclear bombs at bases of the Canadian nuclear-strike planes. France's policy insists on French control over any such stockpiles on French soil. The weapons in question, however, would be subject only to joint U.S.-Canada control and would be held in U.S. ownership and custody.

A settlement of the problem is expected to be reached before Mr. Pearson comes to France for the Jan. 15-17 visit.

Modify Starfighters

Several alternatives are under discussion here between French and Canadian authorities. The most likely is considered to be modification of the F-104 Starfighters, originally designed for an exclusively nuclear role, so they would bear only conventional forces.

Another good possibility is that they could be outfitted to fill a dual nuclear-conventional role, with the nuclear bombs stockpiled at advance bases in Germany where no nuclear nuclear problem exists.

There is not necessarily any connection between the possibility of a Pearson visit to the Canadian air force bases and the problem with France.

Normally on a visit here a Canadian prime minister would pay his respects to Canadian forces in this country (at Marville and Grostenquin), probably when he completed his official government business.

Give Assurance

In the circumstances, however, Mr. Pearson might be expected to assure the men that their efforts are appreciated back home and that their role is not being diminished—just altered.

Meanwhile, the French foreign office is preparing for the visit of the leader of the Canadian government. Diplomatically it is known as an official visit by a head of government, rating for the red carpet treatment a cut below that accorded a visiting head of state.

When he arrives at Orly airport, Mr. Pearson will be greeted by French premier Georges Pompidou, a guard of honor and a military band.

During his three-day stay, the prime minister will meet with President De Gaulle. Exactly how long the talks will last isn't yet known, but if it doesn't amount to at least half a day it will have to go down as a cool reception by the lofty de Gaulle.

International Field

The discussions are expected to remain chiefly in the international field—a tour d'horizon covering NATO questions, international trade, east-west relations, the United Nations and other international issues.

Two men will get into much detail on any question, for President de Gaulle likes to deal with matters of principle and leave the details to his subordinates.

It is not yet known whether the details in discussions to take place between French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville and Canadian External Affairs Minister Martin, who will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Pearson—will extend to the controversy over Trans-Canada Airlines criticisms of the French-built Caravelle passenger jet.

Mr. Martin did speak with officials of Sud-Aviation, builders of the Caravelle, when he was in Paris for the recent NATO ministerial conference, and apparently parted amicably.

Go Easy on Theories

In the De Gaulle-Pearson talks, it is not anticipated Mr. Pearson will push his theories for closer trading ties in the Atlantic community.

France is cautious about entering any larger trade area, particularly now while it is in the midst of a crisis with its Common Market partners over sharp disagreements on agricultural policy.

But there probably will be a mutual exchange of desires for development and expansion of two-day relations in investment and cultural fields.

On the social side of Mr. Pearson's visit, the French president will hold a state dinner for the Canadian visitors, and this will be reciprocated by the Canadians.

When he is in Paris for the NATO meeting, Mr. Martin described the forthcoming

Robin Hood Type Criminal Given Another Chance

VANCOUVER (CP)—A magistrate today refused to commit as a habitual criminal a man who has shown Robin Hood tendencies.

Magistrate Douglas Hume said Frederick Haines, 25, had not been given opportunity by society to correct his way of life.

The crown sought an indefinite imprisonment as a habitual criminal because Haines had 35 convictions, mostly for breaking and entering and theft, since he was 11 years old.

Prosecutor Bill Forbes said Haines sometimes made donations to help underprivileged children but he probably would return to crime if released from prison.

Haines now is serving a five-year term for a series of post office breakings.

Name Peak After JFK

LIMA, Peru (AP)—An 18,700-foot peak in the Andes was named Monday in honor of President John Kennedy. The peak is in the White Mountain range northeast of Huaraz.

ARRIVING this week from Germany to take the post of commander, Esquimaux garrison, is Lt.-Col. Henry C. F. Elliot, commanding officer of the First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada. Lt.-Col. Elliot joined the QOR militia as a rifleman in July, 1940, became CO in August, 1961.

'Aid Less Fortunate'

Conakry are a sometime thing.

"Phillip A. Heller, head of the department's newly formed West African dog desk, said the Sam crisis was developing into "a most delicate affair."

"We don't want any dog to miss his Christmas party," Heller said. "There are more dog-lovers than there are foreign policy-lovers."

If you're listening way out there in darkest Africa, Sam, all the gang back at the Reservoir Road fire hydrant are asking for you. Come home boy.

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, in a Christmas message to Canadians, urges that they resolve to improve the lot of the less fortunate in their own country and in the world—especially the children.

Mr. Diefenbaker noted that he was spending a family Christmas in Ottawa but that Lai Luk Ho, the 10-year-old Chinese foster daughter adopted by the Diefenbakers several years ago, would spend the yuletide in far-off Hong Kong.

"In this one small Chinese girl is focused both the message and the challenge of Christmas."

NEW YORK (AP)—An electronic computer, standing watch here over the ships at sea, told the U.S. Coast Guard almost instantly which ship could best aid the stricken liner Lakonika.

It is called AMVER, for "Atlantic Merchant Vessel Report." The coast guard has operated AMVER since 1958 and of the 3,500 U.S. and foreign merchant ships plying the North Atlantic about 800 report their movements daily. The location, course and speed along with such information as whether a doctor is aboard of each of the reporting vessels is stored in AMVER's electronic memory.

Thus, in a maritime emergency such as befell the Greek cruise ship Lakonika in the eastern Atlantic, AMVER can supply the names and locations of ships in the best position to answer an SOS.

Sunday night, AMVER typed on paper the names of five vessels within 100 miles of the Lakonika.

The system is in use only in the North Atlantic, but the coast guard hopes eventually to extend it to the Pacific.

"We have received no reports at this stage at all about the fire on board the ship. We cannot comment on isolated incidents, and can only say that the lifeboats were definitely properly equipped and had all been checked during the refit period before the sailing."

A passenger on a motorcycle, two persons in a car and a pedestrian were treated in hospital Monday and then discharged after being involved in three separate accidents.

Arthur Perry, 15, of 4016 Braefoot, received leg bruises when the motorcycle on which he was riding was in collision with a car driven by Johan Koning, 1030 St. Charles, at Denman and Shakespeare. The cycle was driven by Ken Brown, 116 Allison.

A three-car collision at Pat Bay Highway and Piedmont sent Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Goodwin, 3066 Quadra, to hospital. Other cars involved were driven by Robert Hall, 1741A Bank, and Edward Rowbottom, 5099 Pat Bay Highway.

Kwan Wah, 73, of 1824 Gowan, was injured by a car as he walked across Figgard. Police identified the driver as Kathleen Davies, 936 Old Esquimalt Road.

CHICAGO (AP)—A fast-moving early winter storm which dumped the heaviest snowfalls of the century in some southern states swept across broad areas in the eastern section of the United States today.

The pre-Christmas major storm, fanned by gusty winds, disrupted air and highway travel, created hazardous driving conditions and inconvenienced millions.

The storm, on the first full day of the winter season, left amounts up to 16 inches in western and southwestern Virginia and up to eight inches in the New York metropolitan area.

John Diefenbaker will visit Victoria next month in a new role—ex-prime minister.

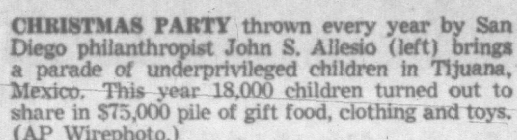

The Conservative leader will attend a joint meeting of the Victoria Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs at the Empress ballroom Jan. 13.

Topic has not been announced.

Mr. Diefenbaker has not visited Victoria since he campaigned here as prime minister just before the April federal general election in which he was defeated.

Tickets for the luncheon meeting will be available at Eaton's box office.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. John B. Macdonald, president of the University of B.C., announced today the appointment of Dr. Kaspar Naegle as professor of sociology at UBC and as dean of the faculty of arts.

—Saanchi pioneer Richard Erskine Nimmo, 86, died Sunday after living 65 years on Vancouver Island as coal miner, road builder and historian.

Rev. O. L. Foster will conduct the funeral service at 3 p.m. Friday at McCall's chapel, followed by cremation.

Mr. Nimmo, who was born in Perthshire, Scotland, came to the Island in 1898 and to Saanich in 1905.

Lilith. The Nimmos celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in the Agricultural Hall, July 21, 1962. Mrs. Nimmo is granddaughter of William Thomson, first white resident of Saanich Peninsula.

Other survivors are a son, James Erskine of Port Renfrew, a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Carmichael, of Saanichton; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren; three sisters, superintendent for 37 years, retiring in 1938.

For 24 years he was secretary of the Saanich Pioneer Society, the group responsible for the log museum at Saanichton Fair grounds, and since 1959 had been the society historian. He also was active in the agricultural society.

During the First World War, Mr. Nimmo served in the 8th Field Company, Canadian Engineers.

He is survived by his widow.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A lawyer said Monday a Canadian information officer advised an Indian delegation not to talk about racial discrimination problems at the United Nations because it might help communist propagandists.

Henry Castilou said in an interview he and the Indians were given the advice by Campbell Moodie, information officer with the Canadian United Nations delegation.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government will start charging a toll on ships and the all-Canadian Welland Canal their cargoes moving through next April.

The money collected—expected to amount to about $2,000,000 during the nine-month inland shipping season—will be used to offset part of the $4,500,000 cost of operating and maintaining the waterway between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

In announcing the reimposition of the Welland tolls, Transport Minister McIlraith said the question of repaying the $180,000,000 cost of twinning the 30-mile canal will be considered after the job is completed.

'PEACE ON EARTH TO MEN OF GOOD WILL'

History was made in a little private chapel adjoining the residence of Most Rev. Harold Sexton, Anglican Archbishop of British Columbia.

It is called the Chapel of the Peace of God and its white stucco walls looked down on something that had never happened before—an informal union of ministers of the Roman Catholic, Anglican, Presbyterian and United churches.

Within the quiet reverent atmosphere of the little chapel, with its miniature altar and secluded wall lights, they exchanged Christmas blessings.

"Such a union has never happened here before, but we hope it will happen again," Archbishop Sexton said. "It is, I believe, symbolic of the harmonious relationship now existing between all churches of the Christian faith."

"We are getting to know one another."

Bishop Remi De Roo, leader of the Roman Catholic faith in Victoria, said:

"We should meet as friends at this happy season of the year."

Bishop De Roo said how much he enjoyed visiting the little chapel, which was presented to the Anglican diocese in 1938 by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarrow in memory of their son, Jack Forrest Yarrow, who died that year at the age of 21.

"I am glad we were able to meet this way," said Rev. G. Howard Turpin of Esquimalt United Church, who attended in his capacity as chairman of the United Church Presbytery in Victoria.

"The magic of Christmas unites everyone," said Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. As Christians we should be able to work together as friends."

Archdeacon J. W. Forth attended as chairman of the Victoria Council of Churches, which now includes most local denominations.

He said the occasion could best be summed up in a phrase from the revised standard version of the New Testament: "Peace on earth to men of goodwill."

CHURCH UNITY in the spirit of Christmas is expressed at informal meeting in Chapel of the Peace of God. From left: Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean, St. Andrew's Presbyterian; Archdeacon J. W. Arthur Mayse

Oh, three great kings on camels high,
(sleep, my sha, my lamb)
They followed a star along the sky,
(my sha, my lovely lamb)
And the star rose up and the star went down
And the star stood over Bethlehem-town,
And that was a place without renown,
(sleep, my lovely lamb.)

Now one of these riders spoke his mind,
"Sure a goodly master is he we'll find...
He must be a prince both fair and tall
With robe and sceptre and crown and all,
And wisely before his throne we'll fall,"
(my sha, my lovely lamb.)

Said the next wise rider soberly,
"With you, good friend, I must faint agree;
Indeed, he will be an awful lord
With an angry hand on a hungry sword,
And well if we win his good accord,"
(sleep, my lovely lamb.)

But the wisest rider, he sighed and smiled,
"And what if this king be but a child?
What if he have no sword or spear
And is no ruler for us to fear,
But only a babe in a baby's gear?"
(sleep, my sha, my lamb.)

To Bethlehem the riders came,
And they were tired and the camels lame:
Over a stable the star hung low
And into the stable they did go,
And there they ranged them all in a row,
(my sha, my lovely lamb.)

The riders saw Our Lady there,
And ah, the light that was on her hair!
And like a young bird safe in its nest
The Child was sleeping at Mary's breast,
And He no greater than you at best,
(sleep, my lovely lamb.)

His Mother smiled to see them stand
(my sha, my lovely lamb)
Each with his gifts into his hand,
(sleep, my lovely lamb)
And, "Save us, it's strange," the one man said,
And the other, "Here is no lord to dread,"
But "My heart to my King!" cried the wisest head, (sleep, my sha, my lamb,
my sha, my lovely lamb,
Asleep, my lovely lamb?)

CHURCH SERVICES SET FOR TONIGHT

All Anglican and Roman Catholic churches in Greater Victoria will hold special services tonight and Christmas Day.

The majority of non-Anglican and non-Catholic churches held Christmas services on Sunday—but there are some exceptions.

In First United Church, Quadra and Kings, there will be a vesper service at 11 p.m.

BY CANDLELIGHT

The reformed episcopal Church of Our Lord will hold a Christmas communion by candlelight from 11 p.m. to midnight Christmas Eve.

The Christmas Day service at 11 a.m. will be fully choral, with Holy Communion and a sermon by Bishop Denys Rankin.

FIRST OF KIND

In Christ Church Cathedral there will be a family communion service—the first of its kind—at 9:30 a.m., followed by a choral service at 11 a.m.

Do-It-Yourself Party Planned By 130 Inmates

The 130 inmates of William Head Institution are putting on their own Christmas party.

Training officer J. J. Sheridan today said there may be some Christmas parades, but this won't be known for certain until release orders arrive from Ottawa.

No prisoner will be granted Christmas "leave" to his real home, he said, so all inmates are taking part in their own production.

Christmas Eve they'll have their party, complete with entertainers drawn from their own ranks. Mr. Sheridan said their are musicians and singers among them.

ALL THE EXTRAS

Christmas Day there will be a turkey dinner complete with all the extras the men might ordinarily receive at home. Christmas night they will have a movie.

Visitors may call as usual on Christmas Day and Boxing Day and on such occasions they often bring food from their own tables to share with the inmate they are visiting.

St. John's Anglican Church will hold a Christmas Eve service at 10:45 p.m. On Christmas Day there will be Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and a family service at 11 a.m.

Midnight Mass will be celebrated in St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral tonight. There will be Christmas Day masses at 6:30, 8, 9:30, 11, and 12:30 noon and at 5:15 p.m.

NEWTON HOME WINS

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce has awarded first prize for best-decorated house to J. A. Dennison, 2041 Newton.

The home, decorated by highways department engineer Jim Dennison, wife Ruth and daughters Gail and Ellen, is an Arctic vision of icicles, penguins, and a modernistic depiction of the Three Wise Men.

Mr. Dennison, who last year won a prize for best door, said he used plywood and cloth for the icicles on eaves and windows. There's also a moon on the TV antenna, and a star on a line between his house and the next.

RANQUET JAN. 8

Judging in the Jaycees' Christmas decorations contest was carried out over the weekend and Monday.

A prize-giving ceremony and banquet will be held at the Empress Hotel Jan. 6 for all winners and judges.

Other winners were:

Decorated house—R. Dawson, 1726 Green Oaks; N. Lazaruk, 1071 Beverley.

Decorated window or door—Frank Burger, 1295 Tracksell; D. W. Middleton, 3216 Frechette; W. S. Hall, 334 Irving.

Best depiction Christmas message—R. H. Abbott, 3200 Richmond; A. J. Wilkins, 3150 Balfour; M. Ivatts, 2940 Prior.

Group display houses—3100 block, Westdowne.

Decorated commercial window—Germaine's Coiffures, 3621 Douglas.

Decorated commercial premises—Royal Oak Pharmacy, 472 West Saanich Road.

RCN completely decorated ships—HMCS Jonquiere; HMCS Stettler.

FULL LIST

Residents today were without heat or hot water. But they still had power.

The fire knocked out the heating for the 160-suite complex, 65 of which are rented. Tenants may get heating before tonight if city inspectors approve emergency wiring installed today.

The fire may have been caused by a faulty chimney or wiring.

A resident in another wing of the Garden Village smelled something burning at 10 p.m. and on looking out saw smoke billowing from the furnace room.

The fire had taken hold in the ceiling, floors and walls and firemen had to hack their way through to get at it. Assistant Saanich Fire Chief Tom Moss said that at times it was going in 20 directions at once.

$35,000 Damage In Apartment Fire

At off-duty Saanich firemen were called out Monday night to fight a fire that swept through six unoccupied suites at Newton Garden Village, 1706 Newton.

Damage to the new building may reach $35,000.

The blaze began in the ceiling of the furnace room. Flames moved like a blowtorch through the flooring and up the walls.

Firemen took two hours to bring it under control and five hours to snuff it out.

Port Alberni's ruptured water supply line was expected to be repaired this afternoon and the threat of a civic emergency eased.

Elsewhere on Vancouver Island and on the lower mainland flood problems brought about by prolonged rain, also were being brought under control.

Port Alberni Mayor Loran K. Jordan told the Times this morning:

"We should have the pipeline connected this afternoon if it goes well. The job was pretty well progressed last night."

THROUGH NIGHT

The mayor said 35 men, bulldozers, trucks and piledrivers worked through the night and were continuing today. The seven-mile-long, 27-inch main leading to the city from China Creek, along Franklin River Road, fractured early Monday.

The city was then dependent on a six-inch line from Alberni and on three reservoirs which held four million gallons—about enough water to last the city until Christmas morning.

The mayor said city residents had been asked to conserve water and many large commercial users were closed down.

The situation was eased when Tahsis Company sawmill closed until after Christmas. Contrary to earlier reports, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company timber and pulp operations were not closed as they have an independent water supply which does not tie into the city system.

BUCKETFUL

The mayor added, "I think we are going to be all right now but it is going to cost us a bucketful."

He couldn't estimate final costs, but he said the rains had created a mud slide. About 160 feet of the Franklin River Road, scene of a 30-year-old fill, washed out, tearing out the water main.

He said the repaired water pipe line will cross the fill area on a trestle in future and a 1.68 inches.

During the past three days Port Alberni has received almost eight inches of rain, Nanaimo three inches, Comox almost four inches, and Victoria 1.68 inches.

Without "passing the buck" I would also mention that the caroling was not purely a university affair, as there were present people of both sexes not in any way connected with the university. There is at least the possibility, then, that this misguided individual is not a student. Nothing would cheer us more than the vindication of this hope.

What will happen next year? Will the vast majority of us be denied the joy of an evening's caroling because of the action of a few undesirables who could not care if they never caroled again?

With Sincere Apologies

TOPICS of the DAY

An attempt was made early this morning to crack the safe at Capital City Bowldrome, 966 Yates.

A patrolling constable found the bathroom window and a side door on the premises had been forced to gain entry. Inside a cigarette machine had been rifled of money.

The burglars pushed the safe on its side and knocked a handle off it but were unable to open it. They apparently were working on the hinges when they were scared off.

An impaired driver who ran into the rear of a car stopped for a red light at Esquimalt and Lampson Sunday afternoon was fined $250 in magistrate's court Monday.

Richard Kendall, 1274 Park Terrace, also lost his driving licence.

The body of Kwong Sue Lee, 65, of Station Hotel, was recovered in the Inner Harbor near the Causeway at 8:55 a.m. today, 26 days after he was reported missing.

Police said he has no known relatives.

The man was pulled from the sea by a plucky teen-aged girl at Ogden Point a few months ago after he was seen to wade into the waves.

Vancouver Island Branch, Shantymen's Christian Association, will hold a luncheon and prayer meeting Thursday noon at the YMCA.

Ask The Times

Q. What year was the Yukon telegraph trail abandoned in favor of radio? H.G.H.

A. In 1936 when it was replaced by shortwave radio.

Q. Did Canada give or loan money to England after the Second World War? P.E.L.

A. Yes: the federal government approved a $1,250,000, 600 loan to Great Britain.

Mayor R. B. Wilson today was almost as busy making rounds as Santa Claus will be tonight.

He was to be on the go for seven hours carrying Christmas greetings on behalf of the council and citizens to the hundreds of persons employed by the city.

Beginning at 11:30 this morning with a tour of the police department and winding up at Beacon Hill Parks department workshop late in the afternoon, his schedule was filled with 20-minute to hour-long stops at various city offices.

Ron Worley, assistant manager of the B.C. Ferry Authority, will head for the hills in March—the Beverly Hills, that is.

He's Hollywood-bound seeking publicity for B.C. in general and the B.C. ferry system in particular. Mr. Worley has already completed arrangements to appear on the Bob Hope and Queen for a Day television shows, and the Lindy Theatre panel, and hopes to hit several other national shows.

Manners of the boating set on Elk Lake are much improved, Saanich council decided Monday evening.

In years past there have been complaints about reckless and noisy boating there, and council imposed regulations.

A few weeks ago council asked Police Chief W. A. Pearson to report on complaints received by his department this year.

There weren't any.

Two more stores will be built in the midtown mall to connect the 700 block Yates with the View Street parking garage. It was announced Monday.

The new units, costing about $20,000, will be built facing each other with a covered walkway between them.

The three-store arcade opened earlier this year and a second access to Yates through two clothing store rear entrances.

Designer will be Allan Edwards and the new buildings will harmonize with the existing old-brick arcade.

A 10-year-old Cordova Bay boy was burned about the face Thursday after he threw a lighted match in a discarded gasoline can.

James Kirby, 754 Claremont, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital where he is reported today in good condition. The fire he started blew back in his face, Saanich police reported.

Victoria local of the Teamsters' Union today asked city council to provide more loading zones for trucks and also crack down on private car owners using the zones for parking. Its letter congratulated the present council for improving traffic flows "more than any of its predecessors" but said that some of the improvements are defeated because trucks have to double park to unload.

Saanich firemen went knee deep in mud Monday to rescue a drunk from the swamp opposite Swan Lake close to Kent Road.

The middle-aged man was spotted by a nearby resident who was observing the area through binoculars.

When firemen arrived they found him lying stuck in the mud close to a bridge in the middle of the swamp.

How did he get there? Said he: "I was trying to anchor the bridge so that it wouldn't float away."

Firemen took him home.

'Aid Less Fortunate

Philip A. Heller, head of the department's newly formed West African dog desk, said the Sam crisis was developing into "a most delicate affair."

"We don't want any dog to miss his Christmas party," Heller said. "There are more dog-lovers than there are foreign policy-lovers."

If you're listening way out there in darkest Africa, Sam, all the gang back at the Reservoir Road fire hydrant are asking for you. Come home boy.

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, in a Christmas message to Canadians, urges that they resolve to improve the lot of the less-fortunate in their own country and in the world—especially the children.

Mr. Diefenbaker noted that he was spending a family Christmas in Ottawa but that Lai Luk Ho, the 10-year-old Chinese foster daughter adopted by the Diefenbakers several years ago, would spend the yuletide in far-off Hong Kong.

"In this one small Chinese girl is focused both the message and the challenge of Christmas."

RESIGNS

Premier George Papandreu of Greece submitted his government's resignation today and called on King Paul to dissolve parliament and proclaim new elections. The government won a vote of confidence earlier today but only by virtue of the support of 28 votes from the pro-Communist United Democratic Left party.

The Charlesville arrived here today with 27 crew and six surviving passengers of the Lakonia. Five bodies were picked up and one person died on board.

In addition to rescuing the captain and some of the crew, the Charlesville also picked up crew members and passengers who were holding on to floats dropped into the sea for them by planes.

In a brief talk with reporters, the captain said the bodies of the six passengers were dropped into the sea while en route to the Canaries Monday night.

A. Pelas, the skipper of the Charlesville, said his vessel stood by the Lakonia for six hours Monday and was ready to sail after picking up 49 survivors when lookouts noticed a

LAKONIA SKIPPER CRIES THANKS TO RESCUER

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands — Captain Mateos Zarbis, skipper of the fire-ravaged Lher Lakonia, broke down in tears today as he said good-bye to the captain of his Belgian rescue ship.

The Belgian ship, Charlesville, lowered two boats to pick Zarbis up Monday. It also rescued those of the crew who were still on board.

Crew members told reporters they could say nothing about the causes of the disaster.

"We were sleeping and were awakened by a tremendous explosion which made all of us panic-stricken," one said. "Some passengers plunged into the sea. Many others, weeping and crying, waited for the life boats to be lowered.

"The flames which followed the explosion became very high in a few minutes and panic grew quickly among all. It was something we lack words to describe."
